October 2015, under the JAINA series of celebrating the day of Forgiveness, Jain community of Detroit invited Samanijis to organise a workshop on “Forgiveness: A Key to Freedom”. Samani Shukla Pragya presenting her views on the topic told that forgiveness is the nature of human being. She said we can lead happy, healthy and peaceful life only by living with our own nature. She showed the tips to develop the value of forgiveness. She gave not only live examples but also convincing logics to make the audience aware about the importance of asking for forgiveness and to forgive others. Her lecture was interactive and integrated with practical exercise. Samani Rohit Pragya led an activity to make the people understand that change is difficult but without bringing change in our behaviour we can neither uplift the self nor lead a peaceful family and social life. Session was ended with Q & A. This workshop was attended by youths and adults. Along with Jain community, Hindus and some of the American people also attended the event. Detroit Jain community paid gratitude towards Samaniji for enlightening them with new vision.

On 4th October Samaniji gave a talk on Forgiveness in Jain temple of Miami which was also organised under the banner of JAINA's theme of celebrating the day of forgiveness.
